

Computer Sale Helps Support Local Community Radio Station

Media Bridges Providing Affordable Technology While Raising Funds for Their Community Radio Station, WVQC-LPFM

Cincinnati, Ohio - June 8, 2010 - Via their partnership with local computer recycling facility Cincinnati Computer Cooperative, Media Bridges is raising funds for the operation of their community radio station, WVQC: Radio Free Queen City through the sale of refurbished Mac computers.

Cincinnati Computer Cooperative (CCC) specializes in the refurbishment and distribution of used PCs, but they often receive donations of Mac computers, which they do not have the means to utilize. Since 2009, CCC has been donating these Macs to Media Bridges, who then refurbish the Macs and sell them to the public (average cost is around $100). The funds go toward the operation of the community radio station, WVQC: Radio Free Queen City, which is operated by Media Bridges.

This month, Media Bridges is reducing the cost of these computers even further, as part of a summer promotion. Normally, the refurbished Macs start out at $64, but Media Bridges is reducing the price to $39. Computer, keyboard, and mouse are included.

With the FM launch of WVQC: Radio Free Queen City coming in a matter of weeks, Media Bridges is continuing to raise funds to support ongoing operations of this community media resource.
